Invested in your future

An introduction to RPB
RPB provides clergy, educators, executive directors, and other professionals of Reform Movement congregations and organizations with plans and programs to help them achieve a comfortable and dignified retirement.

OUR OFFERINGS INCLUDE:

- 403(b) defined contribution retirement plan
- Deferred compensation plan (Rabbi Trust)
- Term life insurance
- Long term disability insurance
- Retirement plan contribution insurance
- Loans from 403(b) accounts
- Retirement readiness tools and education
- A socially responsible fund based on the values of the Reform Jewish Movement for both plan participant and congregational investing

RPB works only and always in the best interests of our plan participants and employers. We have no shareholders to please, no revenue goals to meet, and no products to push.
Caring for those who care for all of us

Working for a religious organization is a labor of love. Those who work tirelessly to support their communities and give so much of themselves deserve a retirement plan that’s as dedicated as they are. That’s why the Reform Movement created the Reform Pension Board more than 75 years ago.

Today, RPB provides a defined contribution retirement plan and life and disability insurance programs tailored to the financial needs—and shared values—of modern Reform Movement professionals. We serve more than 2,700 participants with a total portfolio that exceeds $1 billion, and our investment strategy and selection of high-quality funds are guided by today’s best practices in retirement planning.

“RPB is a good expression of who we are as a like-minded community and how we care for each other.”

RABBI ALAN FREEDMAN, Temple Beth Shalom, Austin, TX, RPB plan participant since 2003
Benefits that are as dedicated as you are

RPB understands that Reform Movement organizations need to attract and retain the best and the brightest to ensure the future of the movement. That’s why we’re proud to offer some benefits that other retirement plan providers cannot.

- A range of investment choices to meet every participant’s needs. Plan participants who don’t have the experience or desire to make regular investment decisions can select from our custom suite of objective-based funds, which have lower fees than most other funds of this kind. For those wanting to customize their own portfolio, our self-directed funds include low-cost index funds from investment giant Vanguard.

- Another way to save. RPB offers a non-qualified deferred compensation plan (“Rabbi Trust”) to accommodate any employer contributions that exceed the annual IRS contribution limit.

- Parsonage in retirement. Because funds distributed by RPB qualify for a parsonage allowance—regardless of which Reform Movement employer contributed the money—retired clergy can use allowable housing expenses to limit their taxable income.

- Collaboration with financial advisors. RPB shares a common goal with advisors: our clients’ best interests. That’s why we enthusiastically partner with your financial representatives to help you plan for the future.

- Unique service and care. We take great pride in being able to provide personalized support through one-on-one customer service, free financial counseling from LifeWorks, and educational materials.

“To be honest, I couldn’t enjoy my career the way I do if I didn’t know that I could retire comfortably. Part of what’s made my career ‘successful,’ is knowing the benefits that I have through RPB.”

RABBI MARLA FELDMAN
Executive Director, Women of Reform Judaism, New York, RPB plan participant since 1985

LEARN ABOUT OUR
Reform Jewish Values Fund

For plan participants and congregations who want to take their socially responsible investing to the next level, RPB offers a low-cost global equity fund guided by the resolutions of the CCAR, URJ, and CSA.
Above all, our shared values guide our investments.

Our board, investment committee, and staff all take RPB’s fiduciary duty seriously. Our financial stewardship is based on a rigorous investment process and philosophy that aligns with Jewish values.

These values of tikkun olam and tzedek—as expressed in our Jewish Values Investing policy—have informed our decision-making process since 1997. This approach enables our participants to truly live their Jewish values while preparing for the retirement they deserve.
